

Subject: Analysis Overview Based on ZoomRide Dataset

Based on the data, I recommend investing in Lagos, which earned 218,890 Naira from 93 completed trips, more than double Accra, the next highest at 92,640. Accra has the highest average fare (2,807.27), so it is worth watching, but it has far fewer trips.

I found three data problems.

1. City names were spelled many ways (like "PH" and "Nairobbi"), which split each city into several groups and made every city look smaller,
2. Two duplicate trips were saved twice, which would have inflated revenue.
3. Nine completed trips also have no fare recorded (NULL values), so the revenue totals are slightly understated, and I reported these instead of inventing numbers.

Before a big decision, I would want to know the running costs/expenses in each city such as driver pay, fuel cost, and any other cost incurred, because high revenue does not always mean high profit.
